Forget about becoming a millionaire...

Forget about surviving 39 days on a deserted island...

Put down the remote, and check out the hottest game show now available from Midway!

This futuristic game show unleashes its contestants into a holographic, computer-generated arena known as The Grid where a studio audience cheers on the contestants. Cash, points and even the contestants' "virtual" lives are on the line, making this the most intense competition ever.

Players first choose from eight selectable characters, each equipped with their own special weapon and super power. Everyone is then transported into the virtual arena where a survival of the fittest battle takes place and the player with the most points and the most money wins. Sounds serious, but The Grid has so many humorous elements integrated in it, even the beginners will enjoy the ride.

Up to six players can compete against one another using an arsenal of over 25 different weapons, super moves and hand to hand combat.

The Grid also offers a unique, equally compelling single player mode where you compete against the clock to get enough points within the time allowed.

The control panel consists of a trackball, a super move button, a keypad and a joystick. To encourage repeat play, the keypad allows players to store their relevant information, including names, last level conquered and points accumulated.

Experience this entirely new genre of arcade competition, and watch how fast the addiction develops.

The rules of The Grid are simple. Staying alive isn't...

LIFE LIKE VIOLENCE STRONG

The Grid is brought to you by the friendly folks at MIDWAY who remind you to "Get Your Grid On!"
